FARMERS' COLUMN

Kentucky Farm News

Four-H club boys in Harrison county netted $10.80 in prize money at the first county lamb show. There were 45 entries, and the champion lamb brought 15 cents a pound. Plans are being made to enlarge the show next year, and invite adjoining counties to take part.

Boyle county farmers are using purchased rams as part of their sheep improvement program. A shipment of 101 registered Southdown rams were received for local sale. Nearly stock yards have been providing use of registered rams for several years, and stockmen report that better prices are now obtained as a result.

W. D. Black, Fayette county negro farmer, is making many farm and home improvements. A model poultry house was built and a screened kitchen porch constructed. A water system now being installed is made from a large metal tank mounted on a stone foundation, and will be operated with power formerly used for lighting purposes.

Seventy-seven farmers in Meade and Breckinridge counties pooled 12,270 pounds of wool this year, with a net advance of $2,360 or $19.25 a hundred. Meade county sheep growers formed the pool four years ago, selling only 4000 pounds of wool. Later pools marketed thru the Kentucky Wool Growers' association, and in 1931 farmers from Meade, Breckinridge, and Hardin counties sold 9200 pounds.

William O. Mays of Lee county sold 35 bushels of seed potatoes locally, saved from his second planting last year. Several farmers are planting late crops as large scale demonstrations, as small amounts used last year yielded well. The drought injured this year's yield of the early planting.

Farm and Home Circulars

The college of agriculture, university of Kentucky, has a large number of circulars that may be obtained free from county and home agents or by writing to the experiment station at Lexington. Below is a list of interest at this time. They should be ordered by number and title.

No. 57, Aphids or Plant Lice; 59, Liming the Soil; 70, Alfalfa; 107, Housing Farm Poultry; 111, List of Farm Building Plans; 118, Orchard; 125, Poultry Pouch Installation; 128, Building Plans for the Dairy Farm; 129, Soil Erosion and Its Control; 131, Septic Tanks; 137, The Feeding and Care of Laying Pullets; 139, A Simple Hot and Cold Water System for the Kitchen; 141, Clean Cream Production; 152, Stomach Worms in Sheep; 155, Production, Care, and Use of Farm Manure; 160, Increase Profits by Keeping Down Cost of Production; 167, When and How to Cull; 185, Textile Fibers and Fabrics; 186, Feeding for Egg Production; 200, Grapes for the Home; 217, Raising Turkeys; 218, Sweet Clover; 219, Producing Good Eggs for Market; 220, Canning Fruits and Vegetables; 227, Feeding Dairy Cows for Profit; 228, Meal Planning; 242, Practices in Seedling Meadow and Pasture Crops; 243, The Vegetable Garden; 244, Chicken Pox; 246, The Hydraulic Ram; 247, Buring Lime-stone for Agricultural Use; 248, Renovation of Millinery; 249, Producing Milk of Good Quality; 258, Korean Lespedeza; 260, Clothing Renovation and Remodeling; 262, The Striped Cucumber Beetle; 265, Poultry Parasites and Sanitation; 266, Home Storage Structures and Equipment.

Tenants May Apply

The state office of the tobacco section of the AAA at the agricultural experiment station at Lexington is again urging growers who were unable to sign contracts to apply for tax-exempt allotments. Growers who signed contracts need not apply for these allotments, as tax-payment warrants will be issued to them to cover the amount of tobacco which may be sold under the terms of the contract. Growers who did not sign contracts should secure forms from their county agents or county committees upon which to make application for tax-exempt allotments. Applications should be filed by landowners except in the following cases:

Where the farm is rented to a tenant who pays cash rent or a fixed

VINSON EASY WINNER

With only a few precincts in the district not reported, Fred M. Vinson won the Democratic nomination for congress from the eighth Kentucky district over Ex-Governor W. J. Fields by a more than 2 to 1 vote. Ex-Governor Fields took a majority of the votes in two counties, Carter and Elliott, and Vinson received the majority vote in all the other counties of the district. The vote in Morgan county was 1841 for Vinson and 171 for Fields.

In the sixth district Virgil Chapman was the winner over John Young Brown.

In the seventh district A. J. May was an easy winner for the Democratic nomination and Harry Rainey of Salyersville won the Republican nomination over Mrs. Catharine Langley.

In the ninth district, where the Republican nomination is presumed to mean election in November, John M. Robison won over Former Governor Edwin P. Morrow.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The United States civil service commission has announced open competition examinations as follows:

Special Investigator, $2,000, and Investigator, $2,000 a year, alcohol tax unit, bureau of internal revenue, treasury department.

Closing date, August 24, 1934.

Specified experience in the practice of law, or in investigational or law enforcement work, is required.

Full information may be obtained from the secretary of the United States civil service board of examiners at the post office or custom house in any city, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

The salaries named are subject to a deduction of not to exceed 5 percent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 3 1/2 percent toward a retirement annuity.

EDSON R. WAITE

Newspaper advertising is helpful to both buyer and seller.

It is going to be a big job to rid our cities of their slums. Some of the people promoting this work may not live to see its completion, but they can pass on with the satisfaction of knowing that they made a start. It falls to the lot of very few people in this world to be able to say that they completed their task in life, but well begun is half done.

Some people with convenient memories too frequently and deliberately misunderstand newspapers and their motives.

I have noticed an advertisement running in many newspapers by the Hotel Charlotte in Memphis, Tenn. The ad in part says that they have a plantation dining room and a dining and dancing room unique in America. They also have the highest open air roof garden in the south. It must be some hotel! Its management evidently realizes that when you have something of quality to sell, you can best sell it by newspaper advertising.

For the sake of better business and a more progressive city, every business man should be an active member of his home town chamber of commerce or other business organization.

If you are looking for a ground-floor investment, watch your step!

The advertising columns of this newspaper show you where and when to save money.

amount of the crop as rent, the tenant may file an application for the tax-exempt allotment.

Where the farm is operated by one or more share-tenants or share-croppers, and the owner or cash tenant is ineligible to make application, or refuses to make application, in which event each share-tenant or share-cropper may file a separate application covering his share of the tobacco which he produces.

Where a share-tenant who has one or more other share-tenants or share-croppers (subtenants) is ineligible to make application, or refuses to make application, each subtenant may file a separate application covering his share of the tobacco that he produces.

The President Leads On

Glacier National Park, Mont., Aug. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt in his first talk to the nation since his territorial inspection tour, asserted tonight in a national radio hookup that the government was just beginning its fight to save the resources of agriculture and industry from "the selfishness of individuals."

A part of President Roosevelt's talk follows:

Today, for the first time in my life, I have seen Glacier Park. Perhaps I can best express to you my thrill and delight by saying that I wish every American, old and young, could have been with me today. The great mountains, the glaciers, the lakes, and the trees make me long to stay here for all the rest of the summer.

Comments are generally objectionable and yet it is not unkind to say from the standpoint of scenery alone that if many and indeed most of our American national parks were to be set aside anywhere on the continent of Europe thousands of Americans would journey all the way across the ocean in order to see their beauties.

There is nothing so American as our national parks. The scenery and wild life are native and the fundamental idea behind the parks is native. It is in belief that the country belongs to the people; that what it is and what it is in the process of making is for the enrichment of the lives of all of us. Thus the parks stand as the outward symbol of this great human principle.

We should remember that the development of our national park system over a period of many years has not been a simple bed of roses. As is the case in the long fight for the preservation of national forests and water power and mineral deposits and other national possessions, it has been a long and fierce fight against many private interests which were entrenched in political and economic power. So, too, it has been a constant struggle to protect the public interest once cleared from private exploitation at the hands of the selfish few.

It took a bitter struggle to teach the country at large that our national resources are not inexhaustible and that when public lands are stolen a two-fold injury is done, for it is a theft of the treasure of the present and at the same time bars the road of opportunity to the future.

We have won the greater part of the fight to obtain and to retain these great public park properties for the benefit of the public. We are at the threshold of even more important a battle to save our resources of agriculture and industry against the selfishness of individuals.

The secretary of the Interior in 1933 announced that this year of 1934 was to be emphasized as "National Parks Year." I am glad to say that there has been a magnificent response and that the number visiting our national parks has shown a splendid increase. But I decided today that even our ought to be "National Parks Year."

That is why with all the earnestness at my command I express to you the hope that each and every one of you who can possibly find the means and opportunity for so doing will visit our national parks and use them as the one resource to be used. They are not for the few alone. Camping is free, the sanitation is excellent. You will find them in every part of the union. You will find glorious scenery of every character, you will find every climate; you will perform the double function of enjoying much and learning much. We are definitely in an era of building, the best kind of building—the building of great public projects for the benefit of the public and with the definite objective of building human happiness.

I believe, too, that we are building a better comprehension of our national needs. People understand, as never before, the splendid public purpose that underlies the development of great power sites, the improving of navigation, the prevention of floods and of the erosion of our agricultural fields, the prevention of forest fires, the diversification of farming, and the distribution of industry.

We know, more and more, that the east has a stake in the west, and the west has a stake in the east, that the nation must and shall be considered as a whole and not as an aggregation of disjointed groups.

May we come better to know every part of our great heritage in the days to come.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary society of the M. E. church met Thursday, Aug. 2, with Miss Edna Wells. Some of the members bravely walked the swinging bridge and enjoyed the cool walk along the river. Each end of the way lay in the hot sun, but was soon forgotten when the Wells home on the bridge was reached and the women sat down in nature's breeze, which was much cooler than any breeze emanating from an electric fan. When Edna appeared with her pitcher of ice water the satisfaction was complete. Other members of the society traveled by way of the "old bridge," taking a longer route by automobile, but they too enjoyed the breeze and the cold drink.

The president, Mrs. Soudler, called the meeting to order and had charge of the devotional service.

Visitors present were Miss Edna Wells, Mrs. Edgar Wells, Miss Margaret Brong, and Mrs. Soudler's sister, Miss LaVerne Epp, and her aunt, Miss Mae Sissel. Miss Epp was introduced and called upon for readings. Every one enjoyed immensely the two so well given, "The Back Seat Driver" and "It Takes." Mrs. Kendall read a good article on "Can Wells and Drys Bear the Truth," and made a few well chosen remarks. Mrs. Rowland Stacy discussed with understanding and enthusiasm the article "Significance of Rural Life in the South."

The hostess served delicious home made ice cream and cake.

After a short business session the ladies departed, regretting they could not spend many of these hot afternoons in this pleasant cool home.

Members present were Mrs. D. R. Keeton, Mrs. J. R. Kendall, Mrs. I. J. Soudler, Mrs. W. A. Cuskey, Mrs. Rowland Stacy, Mrs. Will Stacy, and Mrs. F. S. Brong.

MASONIC BANQUET

Highland lodge no. 311, F. & A. M., is making arrangements for a banquet on the evening of August 18. All Masons in good standing are invited to attend, and especially members of all lodges in Morgan county.

The grand lodge officers have been invited, and some of them have already promised to be present.

It is expected that there will be work in all three degrees. The lodge will meet at 2 p.m. for a part of the work, and finish up after the banquet. The banquet will be prepared and served by members of Paulina chapter no. 300, O. T. S.

Gets the Big Ones

Fisherman Edna McChen knows the limits and wiles of the funny tribe as do few other men along the Licking river. Last week he brought to pan the season's largest bass catch here. The fish was a beauty and tipped the scale at 5 1/2 pounds. Mr. McChen has had the head mounted and takes delight in exhibiting it.

TO TEACH CHILDREN HOW TO USE PHONE

On the principle that the school-boy of today is the business man of tomorrow the British post office and the board of education are co-operating on a project for the instruction of school children in the use of the telephone.

Most persons believe that children as soon as they can toddle learn how to unlock the receiver and flip a few words into it. A questionnaire recently sent out to firms whose business, in large measure, depends on the capable use of the telephone, convinced the post office by the answers received that the mysteries of the instrument had not yet been mastered, even by those who daily use it. So the post office got in contact with the board of education and found the latter responsive.

A large number of telephone systems is being manufactured by the post office which will lend them to schools throughout England.

The telephones, which are of standard design, are housed in compact portable cabinets, in which the working of the apparatus is clearly shown. All the components of the instruments are labeled, and instruction cards and circuit diagrams are attached to the cabinets.

Thus when the pupil lifts the receiver he sees the contact being made, while the dialing of a figure illuminates a mirror showing the operation of the selectors.

Gramophone records demonstrating the various "buzz" signals, such as "number engaged" or "number unobtainable," and giving explanatory talks will also be supplied by the post office.

Escape Expert Explains Easy Exits From Jail

Clément Bredelle, a specialist in the art of escaping from prison, delivered in a Paris court a little lecture on his methods. The judge, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, mentioned that Bredelle had made a number of very clever escapes and suggested that he must possess a secret.

Bredelle replied that there was no secret at all. Whenever he found himself in jail he made a point of establishing a reputation as a model prisoner and winning the maximum of good conduct marks. Experience had taught him that he was soon less closely watched than the other prisoners.

At one jail, for instance, he was employed as a crier and often went out by himself. One day he simply abandoned his cart and walked away. His latest escape was from Polesy prison. He had behaved so well that he gained the complete confidence of the governor, who made him his valet. One day he tried on a suit of the governor's clothes and found that they fitted him well. Borrowing also the governor's overcoat and hat and taking from a drawer 410 and the keys of the jail he walked out by the governor's private door. Warders saluted him as he passed.

He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for theft. Later he will face another trial for prison breaking.

Fear Guards Gold Mob Seeks

While a man of ninety-three looks on helplessly, villagers of Jazarechelo, Bulgaria, feverishly search for a hidden treasure. Neglecting their homes and fields, they have dug pits and trenches in the vicinity of where the aged man believes the gold to be. Some will be ruined if they do not find it, but the nonagenarian believes that a "spell" guards the gold, and he fears to reveal the exact spot where the treasure lies. The rush was started when he told how, when watching his father's flock 84 years ago, he found a jar filled with gold coins. He carried it home, and fell ill that night. Believing that a magic spell guarded the treasure, his parents took it back to the place where it had been found and buried it deep. Fear kept the son from telling the story until recently.

Lotteries Help Aviation

Money for the development of aviation is being raised through lotteries in Turkey. They are conducted by the Aviation League, which succeeded the Navy league formed before the World war to raise funds for the improvement of the Turkish navy. The league has the exclusive right for conducting lotteries in Turkey, and has secured from the Turkish government authority to construct buildings and fields to be used for aviation. The total amount which may be spent for this purpose cannot exceed $50,000 and the credit is to be distributed during the fiscal years 1934, 1935 and 1936.

"Social Register" Losing Favor

Americans generally do not seem to be extremely enthusiastic about having their names in the "social register." Between 1925 and 1927, 21 cities had editions, but 9 were dropped due to lack of interest in them. Today, the 12 remaining editions, combined, have a circulation of 33,000 copies.—Collier's Weekly.

Fewer Aches and Pains

More Health and Pleasure

PAIN drags you down—physically, mentally, morally.

Why continue to endure it? Try Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic, and Periodic Pains. They seldom fail.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant to take and prompt to act. They do not upset the stomach, cause constipation or leave you with a dull, depressed feeling.

Ask your druggist or any of the hundreds of thousands enthusiastic users. Probably you too can find relief.

I think all Dr. Miles medicines are wonderful, but Anti-Pain Pills are my favorite.

Mrs. Doc Blankenship, Stamford, Texas

I have used your Anti-Pain Pills only a short time, but they have given me prompt relief. They did for me in a week more than any other medicine I had taken for a year. Phil Goller, Milwaukee, Wisconsin

I am never without Anti-Pain Pills. I think they are much better than anything else I have ever used. Sometimes when I am tired and nervous, and feel like I would go under, I take two Anti-Pain Pills and in a short time I feel like a different person.

Mrs. S. Tidbach, Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania

Your Anti-Pain Pills have been used in my home with wonderful results. I recommend them.

Maggie Belle Dudley, Vanceboro, N. C.

Your Anti-Pain Pills helped me a great deal. I have used them for years. I carry them everywhere in my purse and always keep them in the house. They have saved me a great many sick headaches.

The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER

By ALFRED BIGGS

When honor goes, all is gone.
Don't do it if you can't do it right.
If it isn't the truth, don't repeat it.
A good life is better than a long one.
Prudence and haste can't live together.
Good health, plus good sense make a full life.
There's more greatness in goodness than goodness in greatness.
Paupers and plutocrats are equal in death.

Claud Caskey and Evert Nickell made a business trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday.

Colors of Cocker Spaniels
Originally from Spain as is indicated by his name, the Cocker Spaniel is seen in many accepted colors, fawns and tri-colored have, however, overtaken and passed all others both in general qualities and public esteem.

Native Dogs of U. S.
The bureau of animal industry says that in the United States proper three distinct breeds of dog have been developed—the Boston terrier, American foxhound and the Chesapeake bay dog. Considering North America, a fourth might be added to this list—the Newfoundland breed. The Mexican Chihuahua dog might also be added.

Transformed Vegetables

By Caroline B. King
Home Economics and Culinary Authority

HAVE'N'T you often longed to discover some new twist to the tried old ways of cooking vegetables, to learn some delicious method which would transform them from the same old baked, boiled or fried things you have served day after day into something temptingly different? I have—many a time. For, good old reliable standbys as they are, vegetables can and often do become very monotonous.

My best results are obtained by adding a totally different and unusual flavor and quality to the vegetables, and to obtain this delightful change I often use Brazil nuts. Take salads for instance. Just the plainest lettuce salad is tremendously uplifted and improved by slicing Brazil nuts lengthwise over the crisp green leaves, then serving with a French dressing made with lemon or grapefruit juice in place of vinegar, with enough paprika to color it well. You will have a salad to entrance an epicure.

Grilled Tomatoes with Sliced Brazil Nuts (illustrated above): are a delicious, brave ripe but firm tomatoes, dot with butter, salt, pepper, and paprika and place under the broiler or at the top of a very hot oven. When half cooked, sprinkle thickly with sliced Brazil nuts and return to the oven to crisp and brown. Bits of bacon may be added also, but the Brazil nuts furnish all the necessary protein and other food qualities.

Brazilian Salad is substantial, and just right for the main dish on a hot day. It calls for six potatoes, boiled in their jackets, then cooled, peeled and chopped. Add a cooked beet of medium size, also chopped, stalk of celery, both shredded fine. Mix well, season with salt and pepper and paprika, a tiny grating of onion if liked, and mix with a boiled or mayonnaise dressing just to moisten well. Now turn in a cupful of Brazil nutmeats, sliced lengthwise in nice generous slices. Mound up nicely or mold and set away to chill several hours, then arrange on lettuce leaves and mask the entire surface with stiff mayonnaise, and decorate with sliced Brazil nutmeats and hard cooked egg cut in eighth. Sprinkle with paprika and serve very cold.
